

Tenured/Tenure-Track Position in Medical Anthropology

Position Description

NYU Shanghai is currently inviting applications for an Assistant, Associate, or Full professor in Medical Anthropology whose work demonstrates excellence in interdisciplinary research and high-quality classroom instruction. The candidate would join an active group of scholars who are focused on ethnolinguistic studies of cancer care, cultural perspectives on health and illness, ecology, climate justice, and the effects of urban and built environments on human health and develop innovative and exciting collaborations with faculty across the social sciences. The successful candidates will have the opportunity to join a vibrant research community housed in the NYU Shanghai Social Sciences Area and its research centers.

Terms of employment at NYU Shanghai are comparable to NYU New York and other U.S. institutions with respect to research start-up funds and compensation, and they include housing subsidies and educational subsidies for children. Faculty may in certain cases have the opportunity to spend time at NYU New York and other sites of the NYU Global Network, engaging in both research and teaching.

Qualifications

We are especially but not exclusively interested in scholars whose research adopts a global perspective on health, urban ecology, energy, disasters, or climate change. The ability to teach qualitative methods would be an asset. We are open to all geographical foci. Candidates should be comfortable conducting collaborative research in interdisciplinary teams with scholars from diverse and complementary backgrounds. This position is part of a four-line cluster search on the climate-health nexus, broadly construed; the other three positions are in global public health, medical anthropology, and psychology.

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research, statement of teaching interests, and at least one writing sample via Interfolio. Additionally, those applying at the rank of assistant or associate professor (without tenure) should enter the names and email addresses of at least three referees. Each referee will be contacted to upload a reference letter through Interfolio.

Applications may be received until October 28. To apply, follow this link: <http://apply.interfolio.com/155496>. If you have any questions, please email the NYU Shanghai NY Office of Faculty Recruitment: shanghai.faculty.recruitment@nyu.edu.

About NYU Shanghai

NYU Shanghai is the third degree-granting campus within New York University's Global Network. It is the first higher education joint venture in China authorized to grant degrees that are accredited in the U.S. as well as in China. All teaching is conducted in English. A research university with liberal arts and science at its core, NYU Shanghai resides in one of the world's great cities with a vibrant intellectual community. NYU Shanghai recruits scholars of the highest caliber who are committed to NYU's global vision of transformative teaching and innovative research and who embody the global society in which we live.

NYU's Global Network includes degree-granting campuses in New York, Shanghai, and Abu Dhabi, complemented by thirteen additional academic centers across the world. Faculty and students may circulate within the Network in pursuit of common research interests and cross-cultural, interdisciplinary endeavors, both local and global.

For people in the EU, click here for information on your privacy rights under GDPR: www.nyu.edu/it/gdpr.

NYU Shanghai is an equal opportunity employer committed to equity, diversity, and social inclusion. We strongly encourage applications from under-represented individuals in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, and gender and sexual identity. NYU Shanghai affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach.